

DOG ANTI-CANCER NUTRITIONAL SUPPORT

www.drjohnson.com

This is a reproduction from an actual medical record. Client confidentiality rules make it impossible for me to publish identifiable patient data.

However this diet was derived for a patient and represents a form of nutritional support that in my opinion, materially extended quality of life.

DRUGS and SUPPLEMENTS:

Marine Fish Oil - EXTRA STRENGTH: Give 4 capsules daily. Extra strength capsules contain approximately 500-600mg of combined EPA and DHA.

Cell Advance: Give 3 capsules daily

✓ Mixed bioflavonoid supplement (available from health food stores) give the human dose

✓ Garlic: give 1 clove daily

✓ Turmeric: Give 1 tsp daily in food

✓ Vitamin A: give 20,000 IU daily of the VITAMIN A ACETATE or PALMITATE form.

Doxycycline 100mg: Give 2 tablets twice daily

✓ DL-phenylalanine: Give 500mg 3 times daily as needed for pain

DIET RECOMMENDATIONS:

We like to have cancer patients on low carbohydrate diets. The commercial diet is Hills N/D, but the homemade version is preferred because it is lower in fat and contains phytochemicals.

Please transition [redacted] gradually to the homemade diet. It should be made this way:

Chicken/fish: 50% by volume (probably 2 Cups)

Mixed veggies (and some fruits) of ALL colors: (50% (2 cups)

Theragran: 1 daily

Calcium (any form): 2000 mg

POTENTIAL SIDE EFFECTS:

Diet changes may cause diarrhea; it helps to give a probiotic such as Culturelle before starting the switch, and making the change very slowly over 1-2 weeks.

Nutritional supplements and herbs can cause diarrhea or occasional nausea; if this occurs, discontinue for a day or so then resume supplementation at a very low dose, increasing
